What is your favorite thing about working at Pius X?

The students and staff. I have worked at other schools and can honestly say that we have a special group of students at St. Pius. We also have an amazing staff that is supportive of one another. The school really is one big family.

Outside of work, what are you passionate about?

Music, Books, Live Shows, The Office, and I love all things nerdy.

What did you want to be when you were growing up?

I really wasn't sure. For a while, I was interested in science, but I was never good enough at the math to make a serious pursuit of it. I certainly never would have thought that I'd become an English teacher.

If you could have any superpower what would it be?

I'd like to be able to travel forwards and backwards in time, but I could see that ending badly.

What do you think is the greatest challenge facing students today?

Students today are so involved in everything! I think a big challenge for students is managing time in and out of the classroom. So many over commit.
